

The New Year rings in excitement and renewed energy at Tara Hills. Students and staff worked together to decorate the campus in a festive winter wonderland. In the first weeks back from break, students learned about penguins and polar bears, winter storm systems and how to make homemade hot cocoa with all the trimmings.

Absences Add Up

Now that the holidays and extended family visits are behind us, we want to encourage parents/ caregivers to send their students to school regularly. Attending school regularly builds better self confidence, improves school outcomes, and develops the skills and habits needed for adulthood.

It's not too late to vaccinate !

Contrary to popular belief, cold weather does not cause us to get sick but the viruses that do, tend to be more common in the winter and 2023 is no exception.

With colds, flu, Covid, and RSV all occurring at once, we encourage you to discuss whether vaccines and or booster shots are right for your student with their medical care providers.

Although not required at this time, frequent hand washing and masking are also advised.
